Community Involvement:

Weatherford Living Center invited Lifeguard Ambulance to attend its monthly in-service training for staff members. Lifeguard's crew provided an overview of Lifeguard's services and Weatherford operation. The training then became an open forum and discussion, as the facility and Lifeguard learned more about how they could best work together. Some of the discussions focused on: how the facility could provide better initial care until EMS arrived and how to work best on a cardiac arrest call within the facility, as well as general first aid procedures and bleeding control. Following the Q/A session, Lifeguard's team discussed the physiology and treatment of cardiac arrest, airway management with the bag-valve mask, high quality CPR, and response team member roles. The training continued with hands-on skills demonstration in mock scenarios.

Additionally, Lifeguard taught 23 team members CPR at the Farmrail Company.

Lifeguard also had the opportunity to attend a grand opening for Save-A-Lot, as well as two Chamber of Commerce Ribbon Cutting Ceremonies: one at Mrs. Mary Mc Photography and the other at A Rentals. Additionally, Lifeguard provided standby services for the SWOSU Rodeo's three-day event and their Pack Test.

April 9-15 was set aside as the national celebration and recognition of "Public Safety Telecommunicators Week." Lifeguard is honored to serve the community alongside Weatherford dispatch. Throughout the week, Lifeguard celebrated the dispatchers and thanked them for being the "first, first responders."

Joint Training:

Air Evac and Lifeguard completed joint training in April that focused on difficult airway management. One of the techniques demonstrated was suctioning a patient's airway while intubating the patient; the training included a custom-made manikin that would vomit each time the responders attempted to intubate.
